B. H. D.

I am sending you a sure cure for mange; the same kills fleas, lice and other vermins. This dip is made and used by many of the large kennel men and dog owners. Before I moved back to my farm, I kept a kennel of twelve to fifteen pointers and setters, and used this home-made dip exclusively. Four dips, one each week, will cure any case of mange. It does not irritate or injure the skin of man or beast. As soon as flea time comes I make a barrel of it, and dip (if dog has mange, rub it in with the hands), the dogs by sousing them into it, and taking my hand, while they are being held in the barrel, and rubbing or washing their ears, muzzle and head good with the dip. This will kill the fleas and keep all vermin off of your dogs the summer through.

It ought to be made fresh once every four weeks to do the work. Seventy-five cents will pay for the ingredients, so you see it is within the reach of all. Be sure to dip once a week.

Recipe—Dissolve one can of concentrated lye in one-half pint of soft water, stir into this three pounds of sulphur until it breaks away and turns red. Put this into a kerosene oil barrel and fill two-thirds full of soft water (freestone or rain water).

The above will prevent mange as well as curing it. To kill fleas, etc.,

dissolve two and one-half pounds of soap into two gallons of soft warm water, and stir into this one-half gallon of kerosene oil. Put this into the barrel of mange dip, and stir it in well. You are now ready for both mange and fleas, as this dip does the work for both. Be very careful when you stir the sulphur into the one-half pint of concentrated lye and water, because when it is being mixed and turning red it will burn into the hands and clothing. I usually mix the sulphur and lye and water in an old pot or earthen or tin vessel. Of course, after it is put into the barrel of water it is harmless. I keep a barrel of it under a shed, and use it the summer through. There is no uncertainty about what the results will be, but the directions must be carefully followed in preparing it. W. B. MEARES.

Linwood, N. C., July 26, 1911.
P. S.—See that the dip is well soaked into the hair of every part of the dog. It is wasted if you dip it out of the barrel. Keep the dog standing on his hind legs in the barrel while dipping him.

Uncle Jo's Lice Powder.

TO ONE peck of road dust add 4 ounces of snuff, 4 ounces sulfur, 2 ounces crude carbolic acid, and 2 ounces of kerosene oil. Mix well by passing through an old flour sieve twice or three times to incorporate. This is the very powder some of you pay 20 and 25 cents a pound for, and you can make a peck of it for 15 cents, only you don't get the handsome carton with it. UNCLE JO.

COMMENT BY THE EDITOR:

You can use Lespedeza, Dallas grass, Orchard grass, Herd's grass and White clover. If you have the wild or Japan clover you need not buy any seed. If you will get the seed and mix and use from 5 to 10 pounds per acre of the mixture you will always have a good pasture. Two pounds each per acre would soon give you a good stand. Any of these will re-seed themselves.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE FOR MEDICAL STUDENTS

Athens, Ga., June 20.—(Special.)—The following announcement is made by the university department of education for the benefit of the medical students in Georgia:

Notice to Medical Students: All young men 21 years of age, who are not in the current quota of the draft, who expect to enter one of the medical colleges in Georgia this fall may file their application at once through the dean of either of the medical colleges and become registered in the first year class for the session of 1918-19 without waiting until September. When the application has been approved by the state entrance medical examiner, Dr. J. S. Stewart, and notice of admission to the college forwarded to the surgeon general, the student becomes enlisted in the medical enlisted reserve corps. Only students who have completed a four-year high school course and sixty semester hours of college work, including twenty-four semester hours of chemistry, physics and biological sciences, will be eligible.

It will be noticed from the above that the government is exempting from other military service all men who are prepared and desire to take medical training, provided they can comply with the above regulations.

Other young men who expect to become doctors, who are below the draft age and have not yet received their pre-medical education, should begin this training next September in one of the standard arts colleges offering the prescribed pre-medical course so that they will become eligible to the same regulations on completing this course. Men below the draft age may also file their application before September, but it is not so urgent in their case as with the former.

As there has been some misunderstanding among sportsmen as to the requirements of the state law and the federal law protecting migratory birds. Commissioner Sam J. Slate has prepared a summary of all the hunting laws for their information. It follows:

Summary of Laws.

"This department is charged with the enforcement of the state law, and so far as the state game and fish department is concerned the state law will be enforced. The national law will be enforced by federal wardens.

"In giving you the seasons on game, I attempt to give you first the state law, then the national law and then the seasons in which a man can hunt without infringement upon either state or federal law.

"There is no conflict so far as quail, possum, squirrel, deer and wild turkey are concerned. The law only applies to migratory birds.

"There is a provision in the national law which states that where the state law is shorter than the national law, the state law will prevail. Some of the bag limits have been changed, too. Your attention is called to these because the possession of a state license will not prevent a hunter from being prosecuted for violation of the federal migratory bird act. Five separate prosecutions have already been entered under the federal act, and the migratory bird act has been sustained by the lower courts. This is given as information to the hunters of the state.

"Hunters in this state will also find printed upon the back of every license the open season and the bag limit, which will be observed by the county game wardens of this state and the state department.

"The open season on doves, state law, is from August 1 to August 31 and November 20 to March 1. The open season, federal law, is from October 16 to January 31. Under the federal law the open season in which no prosecution would result, either by state or federal authorities would be from November 20 to January 31.

"Snipe, open season, state law, December 1 to May 1. Federal law, November 1 to January 31. Under the federal law this would mean that snipe could be lawfully hunted in Georgia from December 1 to January 31.

"The open season on migratory duck, state law, is from September 1 to April 20. Open season, federal law, November 1 to January 31. Under the federal law, the open season would extend from November 1 to January 31, without violation of either state or federal laws.

"These are the changes that have been made in the game season in Georgia except that a special provision has been made for wild geese, in which the season runs from November 1 to January 31, with a bag limit of eight in any one day. The state law treats geese the same as wild duck.

"For the benefit of those sportsmen who desire a schedule in which neither law will be violated and a bag limit the following schedule is prepared:

"Quail and Wild Turkey—Open season, November 20 to March 1. Bag limit on quail, 25 in one day. Bag limit on wild turkey, two during the season.

"Deer—Open season, October 1 to December 1. Bag limit, two during the season.

"Cat Squirrels—Open season, October 1 to March 1. Bag limit, 15 in one day. Summer or Wood Duck—Open season, September 1 to January 1.

"Marsh Hens—Open season, September 1 to December 1. Bag limit, 25 in one day.

"Possum—Open season, October 1 to March 1.

"Doves—Open season, November 20 to January 31. Bag limit, 25 in one day.

"Migratory Duck—Open season, November 1 to January 31. Bag limit, 25 in one day.

"Snipe—Open season, December 1 to January 31. Bag limit, 15 in one day.

"Woodcock—Open season, November 31 to December 31. Bag limit, six in one day.

"Wild Geese—Open season, November 1 to January 31. Eight in one day.

"No wild game can be sold.

"Hunting is prohibited after sundown.

"The department hopes very much that this will give the sportsmen of the state the desired information."

The AMERICAN'S CREED

I BELIEVE in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies.

Mexican Bean Beetle Threatens Georgia's Leguminous Crops

ATHENS, Ga., July 7.—The Mexican bean beetle is becoming a very serious pest on the leguminous crops in Georgia, particularly on the garden beans and their close relatives. It was first reported in the south around Birmingham, Ala., in July, 1920. Since then it has spread rapidly in Alabama and into Georgia, in which state it has been reported from Darien and Thomasville in the south to all of the northern counties just south of the Tennessee border. The beetle has also made its way as far north as Kentucky and Virginia. This insect belongs to a large group of beetles, among which we find the Irish potato bug and many other beetles that are injurious to young beans, cantaloupes and like plants. There are also beneficial insects in this group.

According to the Alabama publications, the bean beetle feeds on snap beans, navy beans, lima or butter beans, corn field beans, beggar weed, cowpeas, flowering beans, soy beans, sweet clover and alfalfa. Velvet beans, crimson clover, lespedeza and vetches are rarely attacked, while peanuts and English peas do not seem to be hurt at all.

The adult beetle, when it is mature, is a bronze brown with sixteen black spots. The larva is yellowish and hairy looking, and it takes from four to five weeks for the insect to pass from the egg to the adult. The beetles spend the winter as adults, coming out in the early spring to lay their eggs and start their depredations.

The state of Alabama has had more experience in fighting the bean beetle than any other state in the south, and they recommend a dust made of four parts of hydrated lime, one part of dusting sulphur and one part of high grade calcium arsenate. These materials should be well mixed together and used as a dust with a hand duster. If large areas are to be treated, it takes about twenty pounds of the mixture to dust an acre. The first application should be made as soon as the feeding injury by hibernated beetles becomes common. This is generally about the time the blooming of the beans begins. Treatment should be repeated every seven days or so on snap beans, and from four to five applications should be sufficient to control the pest. On butter beans or lima beans treatment should be every ten days. No fear of poisoning need be entertained from eating beans from dusted fields, as beans are always washed well before cooking in the first place, and in the second place, very small amounts of dust would be on any individual bean.

Early planting for the spring crop is a help in controlling the beetle, and also late planting for the fall crop is recommended. Heavy growing and rapidly growing beans should be used and liberal amounts of fertilizer should be applied to stimulate growth so that the beans may afford to lose a few leaves and still make a profitable crop.

DUSTING SNAP BEANS.

EDITOR SOUTHERN CULTIVATOR:

Please advise me if there is anything to destroy the bugs or beetles that are destroying my beans. Thanking you for any information, I am
Dalton, Ga. MRS. C. A. K.

COMMENT BY THE EDITOR:

You can kill the bugs on your snap beans by mixing one pound of powdered arsenate of lead with ten pounds of dry air slaked lime or hydrated lime and dusting it over the plants in the early morning while the dew is on.

H. P. STUCKEY.

Control.

The bean foliage is very easily injured by the slightest touch of free arsenic acid. This has led to the distrust of sprays as a means of controlling this pest. The Mexican bean beetle can be controlled economically by properly dusted with the following formula: 1 part high grade calcium arsenate, 1 part dusting sulphur, and 4 parts hydrated lime.

The first application should be made as the feeding injury by the adults or beetles becomes common. The object is to prevent injury that would check the growth and the fruiting of the plant. Application should be made every seven days on snap beans; on butter beans, every ten days may be sufficient. There is very little danger of being poisoned by eating beans from dusted fields.

KEEP THE FLIES OFF OLD SPOT AND BOSSY.

Cattle are often disturbed by flies during the summer months. If the cow is of a nervous temperament, a considerable reduction in the milk flow may result.

There are many fly repellents which could be made, but it is very difficult to get a satisfactory mixture that will keep flies off of cattle for more than two or three days at a time, according to A. L. Shealy, professor of veterinary science of the Florida College of Agriculture. There are many commercial repellents on the market, but they are often no more satisfactory than some of the cheaper home mixtures.

From among the mixtures which seem to give satisfactory results, Dr. Shealy suggests the following:

Powdered resin, two pounds.
Laundry soap, two pounds.
Fish oil, two pints.
Oil of tar, two pints, and Kerosene, three pints.

Boil the resin in half a gallon of water to which have been added the soap and fish oil. Then add a gallon of water, and then the kerosene and oil of tar. Boil for 15 minutes. Thoroughly stir the mixture and apply as needed.

He also suggests:

Water, three gallons.
Laundry soap, one pound.
Powdered naphthalin, five ounces.
Kerosene, one gallon.

Chip the soap and dissolve in the water. Add the powdered naphthalin, then the kerosene, and mix thoroughly. Apply as needed.

POEMS OF EDGAR A. GUEST

REPRINTED

Since Edgar A. Guest's appearance in Atlanta about a week ago, The Atlanta Journal has received numerous requests that some of the verses recited by the popular American poet, whose new poems appear daily in The Journal, be printed.

It is manifestly impossible to reproduce here all the poems which Mr. Guest read, but the following are chosen as typical of his most successful selections. They are from his six volumes of verse, "Poems of Patriotism," "Just Folks," "A Heap o' Livin'," "The Path to Home," "When Day Is Done" and "The Passing Throng," published by Reilly & Lee, Chicago.

"WAIT TILL YOUR PA COMES HOME"

"Wait till your Pa comes home."
Oh, dear!

What a dreadful threat for a boy to hear.

Yet never a baby of three or four
But has heard it a thousand times or more.

"Wait till your Pa comes home, my lad,
And see what you'll get for being bad."

"Wait till your Pa comes home, you scamp!

You've soiled the walls with your fingers damp,

You've tracked the floor with your muddy feet,

And fought with the boy across the street;

You've torn your clothes and you look a sight!

But wait till your Pa comes home tonight!"

"Now since I'm the Pa of that daily threat

Which paints me as black as a thing of jet,

I rise in protest right here to say
I won't be used in so fierce a way;

No ~~ch~~ of mine in the evening
gloom

Shall be afraid of my coming home.

"I want him waiting for me at night
With eyes that glisten with real delight;

When it's right that punished my boy shall be

I won't want the job postponed for me;

I want to come home to a round of joy

And not to frighten a little boy.

"Wait till your Pa comes home!"
Oh, dear,

What a dreadful threat for a boy to hear,

Yet that is ever a Mother's way
Of saving herself from a bitter day;

And well she knows in the evening
gloom

He won't be hurt when his Pa comes home."

I'm sure he doesn't see our car."
And Pa says: "I dunno,
I think I don't need glasses yet, but really it may be
That I am blind and cannot see what's right in front of me."

If Pa should speed the car a bit
some rigs to hurry past,

Ma whispers: "Do be careful,
now. You're driving much too fast."

And all the time she's pointing out the dangers of the street

And keeps him posted on the roads where trolley cars he'll meet.

Last night when we got safely home, Pa sighed and said:

"My dear,

I'm sure we've all enjoyed the drive you gave us from the rear!"

Service

You never hear the robins sing about the sweetness of their song,

Nor do they stop their music gay whenever a poor man comes along.

God taught them how to sing an' when they'd learned the art he sent them here

To use their talents day by day the dreary lives o' men to cheer.

An' rich or poor an' sad or gay, the ugly an' the fair to see,

Can stop most any time in June an'
hear the robins' melody.

I stand an' watch them in the sun, usin' their gifts from day to day,

Swellin' their little throats with song, regardless of man's praise or pay;

Jes' bein' robins, nothing else, nor claiming greatness for their deeds,

But jes' content to gratify one of the big world's many needs,

Singin' a lesson to us all to be ourselves and scatter cheer

By usin' every day the gifts God gave us when he sent us here.

Why should we keep our talents hid, or think we favor men because

We use the gifts that God has given?
The robins never ask applause,

Nor count themselves remarkable,
nor strut in a superior way,

Because their music sweeter is than that God gave unto the jay.

Only a man conceited grows as he makes use of talents fine,

Forgetting that he merely does the working of a Will Divine.

Lord, as the robins, let me serve!
Teach me to do the best I can

To make this world a better place, an' happier for my fellow man.

If gifts o' mine can cheer his soul an' hearten him along his way

Let me not keep that talent hid; I would make use of it today.

An' since the robins ask no praise, or pay for all their songs o'
cheer,

Let me in humbleness rejoice to do my bit o' service here.

SELLING THE OLD HOME

The little house has grown too small, or rather we have grown To dwell within the walls where all our joys were known.
And so, obedient to the wish of her
we love so well,
I have agreed for sordid gold the little house to sell.
Now strangers come to see the place,
and secretly I sigh,
And deed within my breast I hope that they'll refuse to buy.

"This bedroom's small," one woman said; up went her nose in scorn!

To me it was a splendid room where little Bud was born.

"The walls are sadly finger-marked," another stranger said,

A lump came rising in my throat; I felt my cheeks grow red.

"Yes, yes," I answered, "so they are.
The finger-marks are free

But I'd not leave them here if I could take them all with me."

"The stairway shows the signs of wear," I answered her in heat,

"That's but the glorious sign to me
of happy little feet.

Most any one can have a flight of shiny stairs and new,

But those are steps where joy has raced, and love and laughter, too."

"This paper's ruined! Here are scrawled some pencil marks,
I note."

I'd treasured them for years. They were the first he ever wrote.

Oh I suppose we'll sell the place; it's right that we should go;

The children must have bigger rooms
in which to live and grow.

But all my joys were cradled here,
'tis here I've lived my best,

'Tis here, whatever else may come,
we've been our happiest;

And though into a stranger's hands
this home I shall resign,

And take his gold in pay for it, I shall call it mine.

A CUP OF TEA

Nellie made a cup of tea,
Made and poured it out for me,
And above the steaming brew Smiled and asked me: "One or two?"

Saucily she tossed her head,
"Make it sweet for me," I said.

Two sweet lumps of sugar fell into that small china well,

But I knew the while I drained
Every drop the cup contained,

More than sugar in the tea
Made the beverage sweet for me.

This to her I tried to say
In the golden yesterday—
Life is like a cup of tea
Which Time poureth endlessly,

Brewed by trial's constant heat,
Needing love to make it sweet.

Then I caught her looking up,
And I held my dainty cup
Out to her and bravely said:
"Here is all that lies ahead,

Here is all my life to be—
Won't you make it sweet for me?"

That was years ago, and now
There is silver in her brow;

We have sorrowed, we have smiled,
We've been hurt and reconciled—
But whatever had to be,
She has made it sweet for me.

Ma and the Auto

Before we take an auto ride, Pa says
to Ma: "My dear,

Now just remember I don't need suggestions from the rear.

If you will just sit still back there and hold in check your fright,

I'll take you where you want to go and get you back all right.

Remember that my hearing's good and also I'm not blind,

And I can drive the car without suggestions from behind."

Ma promises that she'll keep still,
then off we gaily start,

But soon she notices ahead a peddler and his cart.

"You'd better toot your horn," says she, "to let him know we're near."

He might turn out!" and Pa replies: "Just shriek at him,
my dear."

And then he adds: "Some day, some guy will make a lot of dough

By putting horns on tonneau seats for women-folks to blow!"

A little further on Ma cries: "He signaled for a turn!"

And Pa says: "Did he?" in a tone that's hot enough to burn.

"Oh, there's a boy on roller-skates!"
cries Ma. "Now do go slow."

Blue Ribbon Recipe for Curing Bacon.

The following recipe for curing bacon took the blue ribbon at the third annual Ham and Bacon show of Missouri. It is unexcelled.

Use a mixture of five pounds of salt, two pounds of brown sugar, two ounces of saltpeter and two ounces of baking soda for every 100 pounds of meat.

Mix ingredients thoroughly. Rub each piece of meat with the mixture, after which pack in a box and let stand for four weeks. Take meat up, wash in hot water and smoke eight or ten days with corn cobs and green hickory wood.

The following is an old Virginia recipe for curing meat, which never fails to give meat that peculiar sweet taste of the perfect home-cured article:

For 400 pounds of meat use 20 gallons of rain water, 30 pounds of salt, 8 ounces of baking soda, 10 pounds of brown sugar, 1 gallon of molasses. Boil together, cool and skim. When cooled add 5 ounces of saltpeter dissolved in warm water and stir thoroughly. Cut up meat as usual and pack in barrels. Put sides in bottom, shoulders next, leaving the hams for the top, all with the skin down. Weight all and pour the above mixture well same until meat is completely covered. Cover barrel with good thick covering that will prevent evaporation. Examine meat often to see that brine has not evaporated leaving meat uncovered. If it should be exposed more brine should be added. In six weeks remove meat and smoke.

CANNING AND CURING MEAT.

Surely it is not profitable for farmers to sell a cow for say $10, to $20 for beef, and buy meat from the meat shop for 15 to 20 cents a pound. If one does not care to butcher, a quarter of beef may be purchased very reasonably from neighbors who are butchering. In our locality beef by the quarter is now selling at 6 to 10 cents a pound.

Cold-pack canning of meats is a God-send to us farm women. Meat is not difficult to can successfully, and it keeps as perfectly through summer as canned fruit if done right. And it is very handy to have a good supply in the cellar. Many times the meat wagons do not come at the right time even if one wants to buy of them.

I roast the beef partly in the oven, previously cutting it into pieces that will go in the cans easily, and seasoning properly. When about half cooked I put it in the cans, set them in the water bath in my boiler and process for three hours, counting from the time that the water about the cans begins to boil briskly. I make sure that the water is kept boiling constantly during the three hours. It takes considerable time for the meat inside the cans to get to cooking, so that is the reason we must count the processing time from the start of the boiling of the water about the cans. If all the meat in the cans is not thoroly cooked, the whole canful will spoil.

Cook Meat Now For Summer.

We have to have fire now anyway to keep warm, so we save fuel as well as summer cooking discomfort by cooking our meat now for next summer's use. Then next summer the meat needs only to be heated to be ready for serving.

I cold-pack pork also. Sausage is very nice done this way if one wishes to keep some over for the fall.

Meat Canning Precautions.

Never use second-hand can rubbers on meat cans. And always use the best grade of rubbers, for the long cooking will vulcanize poor rubber so that it will disintegrate during the standing in the cellar. A good rubber is one that will stretch at least a quarter and that does not feel gritty, and that will bend double very easily. Such a rubber will soften during the cooking so that the can cover edge sinks well into it, then when the rubber cools it tightens up around the cover and makes a perfect seal that will keep your canful of meat just as long as you want it to keep—for years if you please, that is, if you have cooked it as thoroly as cautioned at the beginning of this article.

Meat to be canned or cured should be thoroly cooled before starting to preserve it. This for the reason, especially in curing, that if not cold the salt will not penetrate the tissues evenly, and they will shivel and fail to keep. Also if the meat is frozen the salt will not get into the frozen tissues.

Can The Bone Broth.

To get meat ready for canning cut off gristle, excess fat and the bones, the latter because they take too much can room. The bones may be boiled in cold water to extract all the nutriment, and this liquid should be canned by processing the same as for the meat, but you will not need to cook it any longer than to sterilize any ferments that may have dropped into it in the handling. Cook these cans of soup half an hour, having seasoned them to suit taste before putting into the cans.

Canning Uncooked vs. Cooked Meat.

Beef, Veal, Pork, Mutton.—It gives the meat a little different flavor, more like roasted meat, to sear it over by baking for ten minutes per pound or one-half hour for all, in a very hot oven, basting with hot fat the while. Or simmer in water for half an hour. Then pack the pieces in hot cans, put in a teaspoon of salt per each quart.

do not put in any water but fill up the cans with drippings from the roasting pan, or with juice from the simmering kettle. See time table further on for cooking time.

Poultry, Rabbit and Similar Game.—You will want to can some of this kind of meat with the bones in for the meat looks nicer for serving if the bones are left in. But cut the fowl and game into as small pieces as possible to conserve can space. Or if you wish to can it with the bones out, boil until the meat can be slipped from the bones. It will save time to put the meat in a cheese-cloth or, better, a wire basket so that it can be lifted from the liquid all at once.

Meat Canning Time Table.

Meat, kind	Water bath		Steam pressure minutes
	10 lb.		15 lb.
Beef, pork, mutton, poultry (partly cooked)	180	90	90
Beef, pork, mutton (uncooked)	210	90	90
Fish (uncooked)	180	90	90

CURING PORK.

Cool the carcasses rapidly but do not freeze, because salt will not penetrate frozen tissues. Thirty-six to 40 degrees is a good temperature for meat killing time. Freshly killed meat absorbs odors readily, so do not hang meat near fuel oils or other strong smelling things.

It will keep for several weeks in a temperature constantly under 40 degrees, freezing is all right for meat that is to be used as fresh meat, but of course it takes longer to get it to cooking.

When the animal heat is all out of the flesh (this will take eight or ten hours at the above stated temperature) you are ready for the cure mixture. This may be dry or liquid.

A Good Dry Cure.

For every 100 pounds of meat allow eight pounds good salt (this means salt that dissolves readily so that it gets into meat quickly), 2 1-2 lb. molasses or syrup made from brown sugar, 2 ounces each of red and black pepper, or all black if preferred, two ounces saltpeter. Mix well and rub into each piece, being especially careful to get it well rubbed in around the bones. Pack in a tight barrel or box on a table with a liberal sprinkling of the cure mixture on each piece. Have the heavier pieces on the bottom so that they will lie in the liquid that forms and thus cure more readily. Some farmers like best to divide the cure mixture into three parts, and rub one-third in at first, then let the meat soak this in for five days, then rub in another third, let set five more days, then add the last third of the cure and set another five days. Meats should lie in the cure two days per each pound.

Brine Or Sweet Pickle.

Per 100 lbs. of meat allow 4 1/2 gallons water, nine lbs. salt (if weather is warm better use 10 lbs. salt), 2 1-2 lbs. sugar or 4 lbs. molasses, and two ounces saltpeter. Boil the dry ingredients in the water for at least 20 minutes, then let get cold. Pack the heavy pieces of meat at the bottom of the crock (better use a crock instead of a bartel, for it can be more thoroly sterilized), with hams in first, then shoulders and bacon pieces last. Pour on the brine to completely cover the meat, weight down with a clean board and stones, and allow four days per each pound of meat for the curing.

Rev. Wm. J. Vickery

He was born August 12th, 1838, in a little house that was built near a spring that is now almost under the trestle of the Hartwell Railroad on the side of Lightwood Log Creek next to Hartwell. This is my best information as to his birth place.

His mother was Patience Sanders, the youngest sister of Rev. Sam Sanders, a pioneer preacher of northeast Georgia. His father was Hightower Vickery. When Uncle Jim was just a little boy, my grandfather came to see his mother, after the death of Hightower Vickery. Uncle Jim said to his little sister, Mary Vickery, who is now Mary Powell and lives at Hartwell at the ripe old age of 83: "I am sorry that nice man came back here today." Aunt Mary says: "Why?" "Because he wants to marry mother and I heard her say that she was not going to marry, and I am sorry for him." But John W. Smith was the son of a full blooded Dutchwoman and did not know what the words "give up" meant. That very day he prevailed upon the young and handsome widow Vickery to become his wife, and thereby became the step father of Uncle Jim whom he reared and whom he loved as his own son.

Uncle Jim like many another boy was inclined to be wild during his young boyhood days, so my father tells me, but he had a Christian mother and two own sisters who were also Christians. One day grandmother said to the youngest sister: "Well, I have just lost all hope of Jim." Jim was only about 18 or 19 years old, and it was quite early to lose hope of him, so Aunt Milly said: "Mother, we can keep praying for him."

"A mother is a mother still, the holiest thing alive."

So the mother and sister kept on praying and when the same sister who was younger than Uncle Jim, and his baby whole sister, was baptised, the Spirit of God touched his heart and said "You are a lost sinner." He repented, believed in Christ, and was baptised when he was about 19 years old at Old Line Church in Hart County. At the same time that he was baptised "Shirley's Jim Vickery," a second cousin, was baptised; Tom McDougall, and Balus McCleskey. If I remember my father correctly, all of these became preachers, possibly McDougall was not a preacher. Rev. J. W. T. Vernon baptised these young men.

December 26th, 1861, Uncle Jim came married to Miss Lettie Haynes, at 8 o'clock at night.

December 26th, 1919, at 8 o'clock at night, just exactly 58 years afterwards, the angels of God came down from heaven and lifted his tired waiting soul in tender arms and carried it to heaven to be with the angels, and "He was not, for God took him."

During the war Uncle Jim told his young wife that he was going to make a preacher if he ever got out of the war.

My father tells me that immediately after the war Uncle Jim began to exhort as the people called it in those days.

On August 30th, 1872, he was ordained to the full ministry of the gospel. The ordination committee consisted of Revs. I. H. Goss, Asa Chandler, Horatio Goss, Asa Duncan, and John D. Adams. All names precious in the history and memory of the people of Elbert and Hart counties. I do not now recall who preached the ordination sermon, whether one of these gentlemen, or Rev. J. W. T. Vernon.

At the beginning of the war Uncle Jim had just arrived at the age of young manhood and had accepted a place as overseer for some lady in the Flatwoods. I am not sure of the name, possibly a Mrs. Hill. The enlisting officers told him he would be exempt from war service, as his services as an overseer of a large farm would be more valuable to the Confederacy. He refused to hide behind this excuse and enlisted as a volunteer and served throughout the war, until he was too severely wounded to do any more fighting.

After the war with the indomitable spirit of a strong and pioneer race burning within him he came back to his young wife and a young son, whom he had never seen before and began work on the farm where he died. For two years he carried his wounded arm in a swing and worked with one arm on the farm during the day and studied at night under the tutelage of his wife, preparing himself for the ministry.

The name Vickery is Welch and the Vickerys came from Wales. The name Sanders is pure English so far as it pertains to our family. Elias Sanders I came to Virginia from England. Elias Sanders II lived in South Carolina. Elias Sanders III was the father of several boys, three of whom became preachers, and one, Rev. Sam B. Sanders, a very noted preacher and a leader of men in all walks of life in his day and time. I know of three daughters of Elias Sanders. Ane married a man by the name of Dyar. One of her sons, J. P. Dyar, an old man whom I have never seen, now lives at Adairsville, Georgia. One named Polly married a man by the name of Vickery, brother to Hightower Vickery. She is the ancestor of practically all the Vickerys living in Hart County. The other, Patience, was my grandmother and the mother of the subject of this sketch. She had only one son by Hightower Vickery. She later married John W. Smith by whom she had nine children.

So it will be seen that Uncle Jim came from pure Welsh and pure English ancestors—two races of people peculiarly religious in their nature, and also who believe in religious liberty. Therefore it was fitting he should be a preacher of that type of religion.

Of Uncle Jim's labors as a preacher of the Gospel I know very little. His oldest son is just 12 years younger than my father, so that Uncle Jim was already an old man when I first knew him, and the busiest part of his life had past. I am told that he preached wherever he was called no matter what the salary, and all his preaching was to country churches. He once was tendered a call to the first Baptist Church at Athens but did not feel that the Spirit of God impelled him to accept the call. It is told of him that he preached 8 years to one country church and received all told for the whole period of eight years the magnificent sum of $8.00. This may not be literally true, but illustrates the point that he did not preach for money. He accumulated some little property, but he did it by economy, strict business habits, hard physical labor, and good business management of a good farm.

Yet in his service to country churches he served them over a range of northeast Georgia, covering Hart, Franklin, Elbert, Oglethorpe, and one church possibly in Jackson county. He touched the lives of multitudes of people, and of all kinds of people.

Sam Patz, a Jew, living at Elberton, used to stop in his home often. He took an unusual liking to Sam. On one occasion Sam spoke of wishing to go back across the ocean to visit his parents. He did not have the money to go. Uncle Jim tendered him the money with which to make the trip, he accepted it, went, and came back and repaid him. Sam told me this incident himself.

It was the humanity in him that touched people.

It seemed that just prior to his death and on the occasion of his funeral I could feel that the air was charged with: "Nearer my God to Thee, Nearer to Thee." We could feel the nearness of God and the melody of that great song keeps ringing in my ears.

"Precious in the sight of the Lord in the death of his saints." Why? Because they are ready to die. They approach death unafraid. Believing and knowing they are right it has no terrors for them. The White Caps sent Uncle Jim word once that they were going to sink his body in Broad River. He sent word back for them to come ahead he was ready. They never came. In the right unafraid to die.

Dear Aunt Lettie, if ever a precious soul lived it is you. If ever a man had a loving, trusting, helping, comforting wife and helpmeet it was you. Who knows how much of what Uncle Jim was was you? Who knows how much your life was entwined in his? "And the twain shall be one." If ever a couple exemplified the saying it was you dear old souls.

But it is just a little while and you will see him: He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb will surely care for those who trust in Him and look to Him for guidance and protection. Uncle Jim is not dead; he only sleepeth and awaiteth his Master's call on the Resurrection Morn in the Happy Land beyond the shadows. So we may not say: "Farewell," but wait a little while and say: "Good Morning."

JOHN ANDY SMITH.
